Ethiopian Airlines Partners with IOCC Consulting

Ethiopian Airlines and IOCC Consulting are now in the final stage in concluding a long-term agreement between the two companies. The initial part of the agreement was signed on 14 January 2016 by Ethiopian Airlines Group CEO Mr. Tewolde GebreMariam (left) and IOCC Consulting's CEO Mr. Dustin Paul Wilden (right). The agreement will include a mutually beneficial business relationship regarding aviation simulators and training at Ethiopian Airlines headquarters in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Ethiopian Airlines Group CEO, Mr. Tewolde GebreMariam added, "Our simulators are a symbol of the opportunities we are bringing to Ethiopia and to the continent as a whole. Ethiopian cares about African Aviation and this transatlantic partnership will further our aims of building trust and custom around the world."

One of the ways Ethiopian is making its flights safe!

If you wander around the Ethiopian Airlines Aviation Academy (EAAA) you might be surprised to hear splashing sounds. On closer inspection you might find what look like cabin stewards and stewardesses jumping out of half an airplane onto a blow-up slide and into a swimming pool! The scene is oddly familiar. Perhaps you've seen something similar on the in-flight safety information? They are training on a Cabin Emergency Evacuation Trainer (CEET). At Ethiopian we put passenger safety above all else, which is why we have ordered a second CEET from EDM due to be installed at the end of this month, January 2016. The CEET has a dual B787 / B777 configuration allowing Ethiopian Airlines' cabin crew to train on both aircraft models. The trainer has business and economy class seats, a replica galley, W/Cs, cabin attendant seats and associated control panels. It is also fitted with SEPTRE, EDM's industry-leading audio-visual system which includes pre-programmed emergency scenarios such as aborted take-offs, engine fires, gear collapses, turbulence, and ditching and decompression making it the most advanced cabin crew training system on the market.

The Big Apple Rejoins Ethiopian Network

Ethiopian Airlines, the largest and most profitable airline in Africa, is pleased to announce that preparations are being finalized to launch service to New York's JFK airport by the end of June.

Ethiopian suspended flights to Newark in 2004 to provide nonstop service from Washington to Addis Ababa, with connections to its network in East, Central and Southern Africa. Ethiopian's network will once again provide a vital link between New York and Africa with this new service.

Flights from Addis Ababa to JFK will depart Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday mornings, and will return from JFK to Addis Ababa the same evening. Flights will make an intermediate stop in Lomé, home base for Ethiopian Airline's partner ASKY Airlines, in both directions.

Avianca Brazil and Ethiopian entered into Code-share Agreement

Avianca Brazil and Ethiopian Airlines, both member of Star Alliance, have signed a code-share agreement to introduce code-share services between Brazil, Ethiopia, and future points beyond Ethiopia.

Through this partnership Avianca Brazil will add its code (O6) to Addis Abeba, Ethiopia connecting Brazil (GRU) to Africa (ADD), with the possibility for expansion to China and other viable Asian destinations. On a reciprocal basis, the largest African carrier, Ethiopian, will be able to reach more destinations in Brazil through Avianca Brazil network under ET code.

ICAO president on visit here

By Kaleyesus Bekele

The President of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), Olumuyiwa Bernard Aliu (PhD), is visiting Ethiopia.

Accompanied by Zaid Woldegebrel, Ethiopia's permanent representative at the ICAO, and ICAO's regional directors Barry Kashambo, Eastern and Southern Africa, and Mam Sait Jallow, Western and Central Africa, Aliu arrived in Addis Ababa last Tuesday to attend the African Union Summit.

On Tuesday, Aliu visited the Ethiopian Civil Aviation Authority (ECAA), the Ethiopian Airports Enterprise (EAE) and Ethiopian Airlines. The ICAO delegation visited the training center of ECAA and officials of ECAA made a briefing about the authority's effort in ensuring safe and reliable air transport in Ethiopia. The officials explained how the authority was cooperating with neighboring and other African countries in the areas of training and information sharing.

The delegation visited the headquarters of the Ethiopian Airports Enterprise (EAE) and the massive expansion project the enterprise is undertaking at the Addis Ababa Bole International Airport. Officials of EAE made a presentation about the Addis Ababa Bole International Airport passenger

ETHIOPIA

In this page, we will be promoting Ethiopia's nine inscribed world heritage sites that are recorded under UNESCO World Heritage lists. In this issue, we present to you The Stele Site of Tiya

Tiya

Tiya is among the most important of the roughly 160 archaeological sites discovered so far in the Soddo region, South of Addis Ababa. According to an article by UNESCO, the site contains 36 mountains, including 32 carved stelae covered with symbols. "They are believed to be marks of the large prehistoric burial complex." This archeological site joined World Heritage Sites list in 1980.

Tiya is one of nine megalithic pillar sites in the Gurage Zone. As of 1997, 118 stelae were reported in the area. Along with the stelae in the Hadiya Zone, the structures are identified by local residents as Yegragn Dingay or "Gran's stone", in reference to Imam Ahmad ibn Ibrahim al-Ghazi (Ahmad "Gurey" or "Gran"), ruler of the Adal Sultanate.
